

Lore Library Demo Release

May 6, 2025

Hello, we are the team bringing you Lore Library, and we are pleased to announce our first demo release!

While not feature complete, the release allows us to showcase our amazing features, and get feedback from users about where we should go from here.

In this release, you can browse worlds created by other users, on a beautifully designed page, tailored to each world.

Users can sign up with their email address and display name, allowing our community to start developing.

In the future, you can expect fine grained permissions, live collaboration, and heaps of new elements to include in your pages!

Thanks for the support, and we look forward to seeing what you can create with us!

